to the wonderful

The first part of our 3rd grade experience has seen us show great effort in our learning. The children have accomplished so much academically. They did not give up, instead they pushed on while learning new concepts like long division. Although related topics such as decimals and fractions were demanding and could be, very often, frustrating!, the class showed excellent perseverance. We have had a marvelous school year and we will continue to have fun for the rest of the year.

We won the manners contest (among grades 1-5). Our class has received positive comments from different teachers, being calm and respectful during our Special classes. They have shown good manners in our class, among classmates and with children from other grades.

I personally believe that our class will continue to work hard and do their best in the new year.....or at least I will make sure they will.....

Thank you for your support since the beginning of this school year. It reflects in your child's success.
