Happy New Year!

Welcome back! After the long holiday break, it seems that everyone has gotten lots and lots of rest and had so much fun. We've had an awesome start to our new year as the kids have come back to school ready to learn and ready to play with their friends. We have been extremely impressed with how well the children have transitioned back to school :)

Language Arts

Our kindergarten class is ready to pick up the pace with our English Language learning. We will begin to learn multiple sight words a week now as well as learning primary phonetic "rules" during reading. We will also start focusing on writing skills in the weeks to come- honing in on our ability to sound out words, write full sentences, and remember capitalization and punctuation.

Math

This week we have switched gears from addition and have been learning about how to tell time. We've learned the parts of a clock, what the minute and hour hand tell us, and have also learned a fun song!

Some Changes

*We have a new (temporary) Czech teacher who will work with CPK every Friday. Coincidentally this happens to be Julie's father, Jirka! The kids are super excited!

*We will begin our first spelling tests next week. Spelling lists will be sent home with homework.

*Books will be sent with homework now as well. Per my Seesaw message: read this book as often as you'd like!
